THE SPIRIT OF H.H.S.

HIGHWAY

GUIDANCE

1964

THIS IS THE

IT'S WORK . . .

8 a.m. to 2:22 p.m. . . . seems like an eternity . . .

Pages and pages of notes . . .

Notebooks, textbooks, assignments, deadlines . . .

Upstairs and down again . . .

Then, at last, the bell.

Now to meetings, practice, make-up work . . .

Still the weekend—decorations for the big dance.

Class projects . . . play rehearsals.

Sunday night already?

Is that book report due tomorrow?

If I can just pass, let someone Else make the honor roll.

SPIRIT OF H.H.S.

IT'S PLAY . . .

The gym crowded with students . . .

A rally . . . A Hootenanny . . .

Everybody clapping, singing.

Standing room only.

The Boyfriend. Full house, both nights.

A cast party, everyone reveling in success.

A joke, a date, a girl-boy field hockey game.

A dance that isn't over until the last record is played.

A change from the exhausting concentration of school.

IT'S LONELY . . .

Congested halls.

Many faces. Blank stares.

Whom do you recognize?

Wish I were good in English . . .

Everyone else gets good marks in this class.

No time for fun, now.

Intent on studying.

Walk home alone.

Hit the books.

No calls. Don't care . . .

IT'S CROWDED . . .

Classes on the stage . . . classes in the cafeteria . . .

classes in the teachers' rooms . . .

Assemblies for two grades only,

A new wing needed, but not yet built—

Complicated, maybe, but somehow we manage—

Stay to the right, keep moving . . .

You'll make class in four minutes.

Crowded, not really.

Just togetherness.

IT'S FRIENDLY . . .

Hi, how are ya?

Hèy, take it easy.

Call ya tonight.

A smile, a hasty hi, joking between classes.

The atmosphere of a classroom interrupted by a teacher's dry humor.

Dates, dances, and parties.

Full cars headed for away games.

. . . At H.H.S., 'no man is an island.

IT'S COMPETITIVE . . .

With one another.

Against one another.

Everyone competing for the big win, the big mark, or the big date.

We win. We lose.

We're accepted. We're rejected.

But we never give up . . .

"We're from Hingham and no one could be prouder . . ."

IT'S FRUSTRATING . . .

Homework, tests, quizzes . . .

"Sorry, Friday night's out—got to study."

Probably will fail the test Monday anyway—what's the use?

Football practice, hockey—missed the pass for that big score . . .

Just one of those days when nothing goes right.

Prom's next weekend — where's the work crew?

Pain, sweat, worry—

At last a term paper finished to perfection — reward? "Good thinking, but missed the point completely."

Trying to be an athlete, musician, actor, social whirl, and good student all rolled into one

What does it all prove?

That - - - coke machine . . .

IT'S REWARDING

Not everybody gets certificates of merit, special commendations.

Few are honored in assemblies.

But those who are—those who make the touchdowns, win the scholarships, star in the plays—

These make us proud—our class does well!
Competition—everyone wants his class to be the best.

Logical? Yes—part of our spirit.

Spirit, in itself, brings rewards.

IT'S A MEMORY . . .

For the seniors, it's all over.

June and graduation . . .

Three years becoming dim and indistinct—blurred . . .

The morning announcements; the thought for the day; the menus that "ought" to change; the 3:30
bus;

The parties—Little Richard blaring on the stereo

The smell of Weymouth Arena, a mixture of cold and cigarette smoke—

Things we were a part of, but gone now.

Everyone is off to College, work, or the armed services.

Will we see each other again?

Who knows?

But whether we ever meet again—
we will remember H.H.S.

ADMINISTRATION AND FACULTY

Who does that man at the front desk think he is? We're in high school now—don't need to be told what's right and wrong.

And yet, he was once a member of our "class," too. Could it be he learned more of life as he left his high school years behind?

He offers us more than sine laws, atomic formulas, or Hamlet's soliloquy. He teaches us a way of life, a "thought for the day," a standard to live by.

He's shown us life from a new perspective.

Yet, although we may oppose his views today, tomorrow we will share them.

PRINCIPAL
Paul H. Farris

At great risks our forefathers secured and passed on to us some of the great blessings of liberty and freedom. Each generation is on trial to defend and extend these privileges and "rights." Let us not in our drive for security and prestige lose sight of the ultimate goals of life. Material security can be one of the great enemies of mankind. Freedom and liberty may be secured at a great cost. No price is too high to pay.

SUPERINTENDENT OF SCHOOLS
Dr. John H. Lawson

To The Graduates:

"To look is one thing. To see what you look at is another. To understand what you see is a third. To learn from what you understand is still something else. To act on what you learn is what really matters."

This anonymous quotation lists many of the essentials of an educated person in the year 1964. You have had the opportunities in the Hingham schools to proceed well on the way to your goals. Your future progress will be determined on how you "act" on what you have learned.

It is with great pride that I offer my congratulations to the 1964 graduating class which has set high standards for future classes to emulate.

HINGHAM SCHOOL COMMITTEE
L to R: Nelson N. Cochrane, Walter F. Schucard, Edward M. Lewiecki, Ian S. Menzies, Robert A.

ASSISTANT PRINCIPAL
Irmin L. Pierce, Jr.

To The Class of 1964:

You have gone through school as a group, working together democratically to choose your officers, decide your policies and accomplish your aims.

You have also gone through school as individuals, each developing his own aims and ambitions, seeking and finding help in the resources which the school offers to all and growing mentally by contact with other minds.

Your experiences here typify the American way of life, and I hope that you are now ready for the broader experiences that you will find in the years ahead. My best wish for you is that you will be good citizens, that you will cherish high ideals, and that you will enjoy living.

ASSISTANT SUPERINTENDENT
Charles W. Lamontagne

Eaton, H. Webster Day.

Your ladder of opportunity is before you. You will, we are sure, grasp it and climb to untold successes. Our world shall and must be hopeful in you, our youth, for your imagination, your intellect, and for your answers to the great unsolved problems of our time.

Archibald MacLeish has phrased it very well: "East were the dead kings and remembered sepulchres: West was the grass."

Congratulations and best wishes to the Class of '64.

AUTUMN

The day arrives.

The day that in June seemed an eternity away.

Shopping for school supplies.

Cars again fill the parking lot.

Everything straight lines and business-like

A through E.

Room 122.

New faces.

Sophomores asking directions being led the wrong way.

Reluctance.

Fear.

Indecision.

Weeks pass.

School is again just a routine.

Six periods a day.

Twenty minutes for lunch.

Football victory parades.

Dances every week.

Enthusiasm takes over where fear left off.

Desires, triumphs, expectations, hopes . . .

HHS football team provided many thrills during the fall while playing against teams that were often much bigger. After a somewhat slow start, Hingham rolled up two impressive shutout victories over Stoughton (28-0) and arch-rival Scituate (6-0). Later during the season the team recorded one of the major upsets of the season when it blanked previously undefeated Needham (6-0) in the rain. The highlight of the season was the 20-0 win at Newton South which climaxed three successful years for the seniors.

Field

The girl's field hockey team had the unique opportunity this fall to open their season by hosting a demonstration game between the South African touring team and the Boston team played at Michelson Field. Besides this unusual event, the team again attended the annual field hockey workshop held at Wellesley College early in the fall. The team's record of five wins and five losses was climaxed by a discouraging loss at the first annual "boys versus girls" field hockey game, which ended a not-altogether successful, but still spirited season.

Hingham's first interscholastic cross-country team did very well in Old Coloney League competition this fall. After an opening-meet loss, Hingham's young team rolled up several wins before losing to the league champion, Rockland. Because the team finished high in the standings this year, Coach Lombard may well anticipate a championship squad next season.

The Boyfriend

"We're perfect young ladies"

The Boyfriend, presented by the Drama Club, with the assistance of Mr. Thomas and the music department, was one of the highlights of the fall. The Boyfriend, Hingham High's first attempt at a musical comedy, played to packed houses both nights and provided an evening of hilarious enjoyment for all who attended. Although the musical required a lot of hard work, the cast appeared to enjoy their frolicsome parts, portraying life in the gay 1920's, just as much as the audience enjoyed watching them.

Student Council

The Student Council is the representative body of the students of Hingham High. Consisting of members from all three classes, it coordinates all student activities, promotes school spirit, provides various services to the school, and acts as the voice of the student body. Among its activities this year, the council sponsored the first dance of the season, exchange student telephone calls, gifts to foster children, and a senior scholarship. The hootenanny, the talent show, and the new student handbook, initiated by this year's Student Council, were very successful and helped to increase the spirit of H.H.S.

The finished product.

No class segregation here!

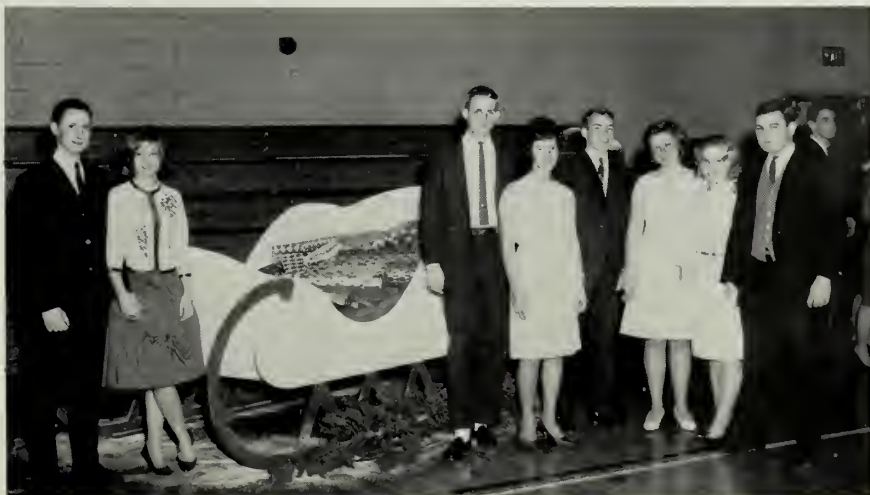

The Senior Class sponsored its annual Snowball on December 21. The evening truly suggested a winter wonderland with its decorations traditionally highlighted by the "stolen" but beautiful tree. Santa's arrival, complete with candy canes and good wishes for all the good "little" boys and girls, added much to the over-all enjoyment of the evening. Music was provided by the "Nomads."

Color them cold and tired.

Those who made it . . .

Hmmm . . . eight. Are they Santa's reindeer?

SPRING

The snow melts, a little March wind, and everybody migrates to the tennis court.
No time for study now—have to be out and going.

Brave souls—sitting out in the sun to get a head start on a tan.

Parties outdoors—nothing to break, no mosquitos yet.

Track meets in the rain. Baseball games in the cold wind.

Bright colors. More smiles.

Cottons and white sneakers.

Preparing for the Proms—no time.

A year is slipping by—so much and yet so little has happened.

Seems to go so quickly. Can't look back though.

It's all over—and 250 students pass under the daisies.

The Royal Couple.

Dancing to "Dixieland Dream."

The Queen and her Attendants: (Sitting) S. Cooper, Q. Gassett, P. True, M. Coleman, J. Melanson, (Standing) J. Melanson, B. Wright, Queen S. Graham, M. Dunlap, L. Holbrook.

The Junior Prom is always a much anticipated event. The juniors make tentative plans for the affair in autumn and winter, but in spring they really get busy. The 1963 Junior Prom was entitled "Dixieland Dream." The class of '64 worked hard and patiently on a southern scene which, when finished, was simple and yet lovely. After the prom the class dined at the Yardarm, in Scituate. The next day everyone packed picnic lunches, gathered blankets, and made a fun-filled trip to the Cape. The Junior Prom is a tradition which shows the class spirit of H.H.S.

Congratulations, Sue!

We've waited so long to be the Seniors—the big guys . . .

We've had our front seats in the auditorium; our chance to be the leaders, the stars of H.H.S. . . .

It's been up to us to supply the spirit, the enthusiasm of the school.

But, we find it's hard—the school seems to belong to those seeing H.H.S. for the first time, the underclassmen.

We now belong to a larger world.

It's the end of the beginning!
